Stennis Airport enjoying success

Director optimistic about future

BY RICHARD MEEK
Bill Stovall was all smiles as he carefully guided his minivan on an impromptu tour of Stennis International Airport. These days, the airport director has plenty to be happy about. The FAA recertified Stennis for another year last week with flying colors, and Stovall said he is working on the airport to become fully certified. Stennis is currently classified as "Limited Qualified."

Full certification, Stovall said, would mean an increase in government funding and open a chance of commercial opportunities.

Additionally, the FAA will be funding the majority of a $150,000 purchase of a rapid intervention vehicle (rescue unit).

A dispute that turned nasty with airport firefighters in Stovall's first two weeks in the fall has been put to rest by the hiring of six full-time firemen who

President declares disaster

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
President Clinton on Friday declared Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties disaster areas as a result of this week's flooding.

United States Senator Trent Lott, late Friday said, "This is the news we have been waiting for, of the declaration which applies to individual assistance only for individuals, families and business owners in Hancock, Pearl River and Harrison Counties."

In the wake of President Clinton declaration, the Federal Emergency Management Agency established a toll free line to assist those individuals needing assistance, Lott said.

Individuals, families and business owners in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties can contact FEMA at 1-800-462-9092, or 1800-462-7585 TDD.

Lott said FEMA has not yet made an announcement concerning the location of disaster assistance offices in Mississippi.

Noting that the disaster declaration is for individual assistance only, Lott said additional announcements may be made soon by the White House regarding the extension of the declaration to public assistance.

Hancock County Bay-Waveland Civil Defense director Bobby Boudin said Friday, "A disaster team would be surveying the county Saturday for the possibility of public

Hospital drainage, expansion discussed

BY MARY G. SEILEY
As clouds gathered Tuesday for what would be a historic dump of rain in Hancock County, area officials met at Hancock Medical Center to talk about major drainage troubles.

The session involved HMC's administrative officials and board members, Bay St. Louis City Council and Hancock County's Board of Supervisors, in addition to local public works officials.

Hospital officials agreed to have an engineering firm study the situation further, before returning to the local governments with a plan for solving the problem, said Bay St. Louis

City Council President Charles Scianna.

Tuesday's meeting was the second such session in recent weeks.

Last week, HMC's administrator, Donald Henderson, told a city workshop session that the hospital needs to expand again -- but there's nowhere to go except in the path of a major city drainage ditch.

Henderson said the only practical area left to expand the 66-bed hospital is to the rear of the property, where a major drainage ditch lies.

Other options, he said, are simply too expensive. Upgrading the existing ditch with large, underground culverts would cost in excess of $100,000, Henderson said.

And the expansion can't go on top of the existing HMC building, he said, because the structure wasn't designed to accommodate a second story.

Henderson said HMC is seeing steady growth and stays near capacity most of the time. At other times, he said, the hospital has to turn away patients because its beds are full.

Expansion plans include additional areas for women's health care, intensive care and pediatric care, Henderson said.

Attorney says no current Jubilee employees involved in money laundering case

BY MARY G. SEILEY
A Jubilee Casino attorney said Thursday an initial internal investigation shows no involvement of any current Jubilee employees in a federal money laundering case recently filed against Jubilee's former president, George Baxter.

"We were gratified to find as we had expected that no one else at the casino was involved in any improper actions," said the attorney for the New York-based Alpha Hospitality Corp., Sanford Freedman.

"Preliminary indications are that no problems have been discovered," said Freedman. "A review of the operations within the casino verified that all of the currency reports that are required to be filed with the Internal Revenue Service were properly filed."

Freedman said the company was "shocked and disappointed" to learn of the allegations against Baxter. Asked if the company is totally divorced

Hancock County Board of Supervisors officials are asking county residents not to bring their garbage to the Standard landfill. Any questions regarding this matter should be directed to 255-8285.

Staffed by volunteer mental health professionals, the five-day, 24-hour toll free line will continue until Wednesday, May 17.

Final preparations underway for Bay Flag celebration

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Final plans for the largest Flag Day celebration ever held on the Mississippi Gulf Coast were held Tuesday at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

The big event is set in Bay St. Louis for Saturday, June 10, said Gene Schloegel, organizer. Formal invitations are now being sent for dignitaries across the state.

The big celebration will be held 10 a.m. at the Bay Flag Memorial at the Hancock County Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center, U.S. 90, Bay St. Louis.

Ron Vanné, Bay St. Louis Superintendent of Public is preparing the walking track, monument and Highway 90 median for festivities.

Schloegel said, The Bay High Air Force Jr. ROTC will begin preparations for the celebration by installing the 50 state and District of Columbia flags on Saturday May 20 along Highway 90.

Mayor Eddie Favre, general chairman of the Flag Day

Celebration will act as the host for the celebration.

To be unveiled at the Flag Day celebration will be Bay St. Louis' new 15x25 ft. American Flag which will be flown on special holidays only. Bay High's Jr. ROTC will raise the colors to start the program.

In order for the new flag to fly at half mast, Favre authorized the Mississippi flag pole to be relocated by Vanné's crew.

Schloegel said, all commanders the active military groups in the area have been invited.

From Louisiana will be the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing Band, The Headquarters Color Guard and their Marine Uniform Pageant, of the New Orleans area.

Representing Mississippi, will be the Keesler Air Force Color Guard and 100 Flag Unit, Naval Construction Battalion Color Guard and the 1355th Quartermaster Mississippi Army National Guard of Hancock County.

United States Congressman Gene Taylor has already committed to participate with invitations also sent to United States Senator Trent Lott and U.S. Congressman Sunny Montgomery, who sponsored the Amendment to U.S. Constitution which will make desecration of The American Flag a criminal act punishable law.

Waveland Mayor John Mason will sing the National Anthem during the program. The program will include Father Theriault, pastor of St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church will give the invocation.

Following a passing and review, several speakers including Congressman Gene Taylor will give a brief statement.

State Senator Bill Johnson and Representative J.P. Compretta have accepted invitations with Governor Kirk Fordice to be included if his schedule allows.

Bay Police will unveil its new color guard unit during the ceremony.

An open invitation is offered to any and all Mississippi elect officials, state and local.

The elected officials should contact Barbara Redding, the Flag Day administrator, at Bay St. Louis City Hall, 467-9092, to reserve a seat in the grandstand.

Bay St. Louis Police Department will coordinate parking.

State and local color guards from the American Legion, Auxiliary Units, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled Veterans, Veterans Administration, Elks, Junior ROTCs, Law Enforcement Agencies, Boys Scouts, Girls Scouts, Law Enforcement Explorers, Knights of Columbus, and other fraternal and civic organizations, are included in the program.

The Bay Flag Memorial is in conjunction with the display of American and 50 state flags on the light poles along U.S. Highway 90's median in Bay St. Louis for special occasions.

The final meeting is scheduled for June 7, 3 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis City Hall. Interested parties may attend.

Deputies arrest man in Jourdan River Shores

BY RICHARD MEEK

A 42-year-old Kiln man was arrested Thursday after he allegedly pulled a gun and threatened two Hancock County Sheriff deputies in the Jourdan River Shores subdivision.

Leon Fairley of 1425 W. River Road was charged with two counts of aggravated assault on a police officer, according to sheriff department official Glen Strong.

Strong said deputies O.J. McMann and Anthony Kallas were patrolling the flooded subdivision by boat in an effort to prevent looting. Many of the residents evacuated their residences on Wednesday when the water level reached up to 13 feet.

The deputies spotted Fairley in a boat and asked him to leave, Strong said. Fairley allegedly refused and when the deputies threatened to arrest him, he stuck a .22 caliber magnum derringer into one of the deputies ribs, Strong said. He also pointed the gun at the other deputy. Strong said the gun was loaded and cocked.

Strong said the deputies were able to subdue Fairley without further incident. He is currently being held in the Hancock County Correctional Facility on $100,000 bond.

In another incident, Alex Robinson, 19, of Catatoula, near Picayune, was arrested May 9 with one count of sexual battery on a 10-year-old child.

He is currently being held on $5,000 bond.

Schulz announces for supervisor

Bay St. Louis businessman Kelvin J. Schulz has announced his candidacy for supervisor District Four in Hancock County in the August 8, 1995 Republican Primary.

Schulz, who owns and operates "Big E" Seafood and Kajan's Seafood, is a resident of 600 South Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

Schulz and his wife, the former Emily Mollere, have three children, Alicia, 14; Alison, 11; Buddy, 7, and a fourth child expected in May. The Schulz children all attend public schools.

Schulz, 43, is a graduate of John F. Kennedy High in New Orleans, studied industrial technology at University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette, and completed coursework in management and real estate at University of Southern Mississippi.

Schulz holds an active real estate brokerage license, an active mechanical contractor's license and is qualified as a hazardous material technician having completed "Hazwoper" training in December of 1994 for Marine Spill Response Corporation.

He is a charter member and past president of Hancock County Exchange Club. He has served on the steering committee for the club's Child Abuse Prevention Center that established the Exchange Club's Family Child Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse.

Schulz served as a three-year trustee with the Pere le Duc Council of Knights of Columbus, is a third and fourth degree Knight of Columbus, charter member of Bay-Waveland Elks Lodge 2776, and past vice-president and president of the Waveland Civic Association.

He has also coached tee ball and pee-wee football for his son's teams.

He is a member of Mississippi High School Activities Association Inc. and umpires baseball and officiates football.

Schulz has released the following statement:

"I am committed to this candidacy simply because I know I can do the job.

"I am candidate who sees positive results, and knows which road in Hancock County is the most important to you, the one in front of your home.

"A Hancock Countian by choice, I am offering my own confidence to the public of Hancock County. Change is inevitable as we approach the 21st century. I believe that the residents of Hancock County want to vote for change and for the kind of leadership that will enable growth and progress.

"Hancock County is the second fastest growing county in the state after Rankin County. We must begin the planning for the future now."

Today in Hancock County there are still:

* No sewage facilities for Bayside, West Shoreline, Harbor Estates, Kiln, Pearlinton or Back Bay.

* We are still constantly plagued with inadequate ditch drainage, neglect in road maintenance and paved roads.

Tourism:

* Inadequate protection and upkeep of our newly-replenished beach, seawall, drainage, public boat launches, and waterway to and from launches.

If elected I will work to establish full-time fire departments with water districts, especially for West Shoreline, Bayside, Pearlinton, Back Bay and Kiln (i.e. Fire)

* Attract more businesses and industries and work with established business to circumvent seasonal layoffs where everyone will have year-round careers.

* Create a buffer zone for parking between the roadway and beach, create another boat launch between Bayou Cadet and Washington Street Launch (Veteran's Memorial Pier)

* Have research done to control the gnats and deer flies

* Expedite the completion of Highway 603.

"I am running for supervisor because I want that better life and prosperous future for all of us."

"My children give me four good reasons for wanting Hancock County to be the best place to live."

Meeting change

The May 22 meeting will not be held at the Diamondhead

Water and Sewer District. The next meeting will be June 12.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The weather this week has really taken a toll on many of us.

It makes one want to cry while viewing the many homes which were under water.

I have helped friends who lived in the Cedar Point area clean up after Hurricane Betsy. They had about three feet of water in their homes and it was a mess.

The film of mud which is left all over the place is something else to contend with, as you make two steps forward, and then one back because of it.

In Camille my wife lost her new car at the old Hancock Medical Center on Dunbar and that, too, was a shock.

I am hoping those who did have water in their homes had their photos high enough not to have gotten wet.

I have had more people tell me over the years that the most treasured things they lost in Camille were their old photos.

One can purchase a bed, table, or chair, but once a photo is gone, and most of them were originals, nothing can bring them back.

One of the points I want to make in this column is the way I saw so many volunteers out helping with rescue efforts this week.

It is good to see volunteers working along with officials while bringing flood victims to safety.

I know many officers worked very long hours, some several shifts without sleep, while others slipped in an hour or two.

All of these people have to be commended.

I have not heard of any injuries and this is very good.

One of the reasons I believe is because of the swift action of all agencies and volunteers.

As far as I am concerned, hats off to each and every one of you for doing a very great job.

It was good news on Friday evening when we received word that President Clinton had declared Hancock County a disaster area.

Any person who has had damage from the severe weather residing in Hancock County needs to notify the Hancock County Civil Defense at 467-9226.

This goes for homes, vehicles, and even businesses.

If your neighbor had damage and he, or she is not in town, you can also report the damages to the Civil Defense.

This is necessary for our records as the area has been declared a disaster area by the president.

We want to thank all the officials who requested the area be declared a disaster. Quick action appears to have been taken.

This all goes to show how working together can accomplish many things.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Family-oriented events appreciated by reader

To the Editor:
I would like to extend my sincere appreciation to the City of Bay St. Louis and The Fisherman's Association.

On Saturday, May 6, both organizations offered family-oriented functions to the public that could definitely be enjoyed by all.

It was such a nice change to be able to include the children in with the adult functions. This was a time when everyone could enjoy their friends along with beverages, food, fun and music.

Looking forward to another enjoyable occasion with family and friends in the very near future.

Sincerely,

Legislature given high marks for '95 session

The recently concluded legislative session was "very, very good" for small-business owners, according to the head of the state's largest small-business advocacy group.

Gale Galloway, director of the 5,400-member Mississippi chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business, cited passage of bills designed to crack down on fraudulent worker's compensation claims and improve access to the Justice Court system as two major accomplishments helpful to small firms.

An NFIB/Mississippi survey conducted earlier this year found one in five small-business owners felt at least one of their employees had filed fraudulent worker's comp claims. Whether or not they had personally been victimized by such claims, most small-business owners (54 percent) felt worker's comp fraud was "a serious problem" in Mississippi. Another 33 percent rated it "somewhat a problem."

The reform passed this year makes worker's comp fraud by employees or employers a felony offense.

"The stiffer penalties that come with a felony conviction should make people think twice before trying to abuse the worker's comp system," Galloway said. "From here on out, they'll be risking a lot more than a slap on the wrist."

Galloway also applauded passage of HB 711, which allows the Justice Courts to hear "small claims" cases involving disputed payments of up to $2,500. Previously, disputes before the courts could involve only $1,000 or less.

The advantage of the Justice Court is that both parties can argue their cases without having to hire lawyers," Galloway said. "Now business owners will be able to pursue overdue accounts that would have been written off as 'too expensive to collect' due to legal fees and time lost in depositions and lengthy, formal trial procedures."

Business owners scored a third victory with passage of SB 3079, a measure that encourages firms to audit their operations for possible environmental problems, seek compliance assistance, and voluntarily notify state regulators of any problems uncovered. The bill was supported by the Department of Environmental Quality, as well as NFIB and others in the business community.

"This law ushers in a more cooperative approach between regulators and the business they regulate," Galloway said. "Before, people were loathe to inform regulators of potential problems for fear of getting slapped with penalties that leave them even less financially able to clean up their operations. Now, they can help the Department identify problems and get the technical guidance needed to eliminate them."

For small-business owners, the session's biggest disappointment came when SB 2117, a property rights bill, died in the House calendar. The bill would have allowed landowners to seek compensation from the state when regulatory or legislative actions reduced the value of their property by at least 40 percent.

Galloway noted that the property rights proposal has "near universal support" in the small-business community. An NFIB survey found 90 percent of its Mississippi felt landowners should be compensated when government actions lower property values.

"We'll make sure this issue is revisited early next session," the small-business advocate vowed.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Tribute to Senator John C. Stennis

Mr. President, it was my honor, a unique honor and special pleasure to serve in this body as the state colleague of John C. Stennis for 10 years.

I deeply appreciated the bond of friendship, respect and trust that developed between us as we worked together to represent the interests of the state of Mississippi and its citizens in the U.S. Senate.

He had already established a reputation for intelligent leadership in this body when I arrived here, and I considered it my good fortune to be able to learn first hand from him and from his example. We were never rivals. We talked almost every day.

He was always friendly and courteous to me, as he was with every other senator. Although we were members of different political parties, that did not interfere with or detract from our relationship.

Our state has had its share of demagogues, as all other states have, and I have deplored their excesses and have been embarrassed by them.

But in Senator Stennis we saw a man as pure in heart and deed with less inclination to inflame the passions of the voters with exaggerated and flamboyant rhetoric as any we have ever elected to public office, and I admired him for that.

He preferred to win a debate or an election on the basis of the well argued evidence, rather than to prey upon the fears or suspicions or prejudices of the audience.

He was the kind of Senator I try to be.

During his more than 41 years of service as a U.S. Senator, he was steady, conscientious and extraordinarily successful in every assignment and undertaking.

From his earliest days to this last day he gave the full measure of energy and his ability to the service of this body and to this state. He saw that as his duty, and he took that as seriously as anyone who has ever served here.

Others have recalled in their speeches the positions of responsibility he held and the legislation he authored and caused to be adopted. There were many of each, and they are persuasive testimony to his effectiveness as a senator. I will not try to recount all of them.

What may not be as easily measured is the influence he had in the Senate by the force of his character. He was the epitome of rectitude, of fairness, of decorum. His selection to be the first chairman of the Senate's Select Committee on Standards and Conduct was an illustration of the view that others in the body had of him, and the confidence they had in him to do what was right and just.

That is why he was so admired and appreciated in Mississippi. He got things done that helped our state and its people, but he was more than an effective senator. He was totally honest and trustworthy.

Mississippi will forever honor the memory of John C. Stennis.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Business and worker rights must remain balanced

The National Chamber Litigation Center, on behalf of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, has filed suit in federal court to stop the Clinton administration from enforcing an executive order barring federal contractors from hiring permanent striker replacements.

The executive order — which was issued by President Clinton — authorizes the Secretary of Labor to terminate existing contracts and disqualify contractors from winning future contracts whenever permanent replacements are hired.

The suit contends that the order violates the Constitutional requirements of separation of powers, the National Labor Relations Act, and the Labor Management Relations Act.

Why are important business groups across the United States taking such drastic measures to stop the President's actions?

NCLC executive vice president Stephen A. Bokst says, "The President's order is patently illegal and an outrageously political act that circumvents the U.S. Constitution and overturns 60 years of federal labor law."

In other words, for 60 years it has been a fundamental element of labor law that if workers choose to strike, their employers have the right to take the necessary steps to keep their businesses operating.

But the President's order strips business owners of that right and tilts the scales unfairly in favor of special-interest labor groups.

President Clinton's order should be reversed.

BREWER'S WORLD

By Jimmie Brewer

Good morning all you mothers around the world. I trust your kids are catering to your every whim today.

Well, at least I hope they give you sole control of the remote. Happy Mother's Day to all of you who survived.

I've said it before, and I'll continue to say it. My mother is perhaps the most remarkable, informative, intelligent (except when it comes to sports), caring, humorous person I know. (This is not sucking up!)

Mom, do you realize what you've accomplished thus far in your life? You raised six kids, and though we are now middle-aged adults, you continue to raise us.

Do you remember that famous line you would say to us when we were particularly rambunctious and mysterious? You would say, "I hope I live to see the day when you have kids of our own."

Well, guess what, Mom, you now have 10 grandchildren who are driving their parents insane. I hope you're happy.

It's incomprehensible to think that any mother could have five teenagers running around a small house and survive to tell about it.

But Ma, you did it, and you made it look easy. You gave us all we needed to face and succeed in this world.

You made us think that we were special. You told us that we could compete with anybody because we were Brewers! And though I never realized it when I was young, you continually were grooming us for life on our own.

You never once neglected or abused us in any way. (Unless you count the times you threatened to "poke peas up my nose" if I didn't eat them.)

This is not sucking up

Ma, you never once set a bad example for your kids. Quite to the contrary: All you ever did was set good examples. We had no choice but to grow up happy, healthy intelligent, caring members of society. After all, we've watched you do it all of your life.

And though you raised us on a very modest income, we never went without. I know at times it must have been difficult for you, but you never let us know it. You kept on smiling and made us feel as if we were the luckiest folks on earth.

You never allowed us to get down either. "Put a smile on your face," you would demand. And if that didn't work you would make one of those silly faces that a person would have to laugh at.

I don't guess kids express their appreciation of mothers like they should, but Ma, you can rest assured that when you finally begin to wind down, you will have six grown kids beating a path to your door to take care of you.

Okay Ma, that's it. Wipe those tears from your eyes, put a smile on your face, and eat the rest of them peas before I poke 'em up your nose.

Praise for do-gooders this week goes out to the mothers of the world who make their children their number one priority.

Summer class registration at PRCC is May 16

Registration for summer night classes at Pearl River Community College will be 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 16 in M. R. White Coliseum on the campus in Poplarville.

Classes will begin May 22 and will meet from 6-10 p.m. unless otherwise noted. Final exams will be the week of July 31 through Aug. 4.

Summer night classes offered in Bay St. Louis are English composition I and II, intro to algebra, intermediate algebra, college algebra, and oral communication.

To enroll, all students must provide the PRCC Admissions Office with GED scores, a high school transcript showing date of graduation, or an official transcript from the last college they attended.

Students who have not completed English 1113, English composition I and college algebra must have an ACT score on file prior to registration.

For information, call (601) 795-6801.

SBA, Red Cross to open center on Highway 43

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The Small Business Administration will set up a temporary office at the Highway 43 Recreation Center, Kiln, next to the County Maintenance Barn, said Bobby Boudin, Hancock County-Bay-Waveland Civil Defense director.

The American Red Cross will also set up a disaster assistance station on Monday too, at the Highway 43 Recreation Center. Initial surveys by a Red Cross damage assessment team Friday, revealed there were four single family dwellings destroyed, 32 with major damage and 72 with minor damage.

There were 13 mobile homes destroyed with another suffering major damage and two apartments destroyed.

"This was on one street only in the Jourdan River Shores Subdivision," Boudin added.

Boudin said the Red Cross survey team was out again Saturday checking home damages.

County and Waveland officials were out Saturday with a FEMA survey team checking the public sector in hopes of it also receiving a disaster declaration by the White House.

Boudin reported that Bay St. Louis' public sector did not suffer any damage.

Sam Cuevas, Hancock County Road administrator on Saturday said, there has been a problem with people removing, running over, or ignoring road barricades.

"The county has had to replace one barricade twice already. This could be very dangerous to motorists when the barricades are removed," Cuevas added.

A large dumpster has been placed by the county at Jourdan River Shores Subdivision for household garbage only from refrigerators and freezers due to flooding.

The Hancock County Supervisors on Saturday said, those with trash and debris from the record rainfalls on Monday and Tuesday nights, needed to place it along the shoulder of the road and it would be collected at a later date.

If someone has not as yet reported flooding damage, Boudin urges them to call the Civil Defense office at 467-9226. This is to report both residential and commercial damages.

Three arrested in separate busts

The Narcotics Task Force arrested three men in separate incidents, Task Force Director Terry Eley said.

Jeremy Cyrulik, 23, of 6th Street in Shoreline Park was arrested in front of the Scorpio Lounge in Waveland for possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, said Eley.

He said Cyrulik was arrested with over one ounce of marijuana in his possession. He is being held in the Hancock County Criminal Justice facility on $2,000 bond.

Britt Ladner is in charge of the investigation. Assisting in the arrest was Mike Hearty of the Waveland Police Department.

Jerry P. Haney, 26, of 1712 Chesapeake St. in Waveland was arrested at his residence for possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, Eley said. He said officers found one-half pound of marijuana with a street value of $800 in Haney's residence.

Haney's arrest followed an undercover operation, Eley said. Haney is currently being held in the county lockup on $5,000 bond.

Arresting officers were Matt Karl of the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, Karl Aderer of the Bay St. Louis Police Department and Bay PD canine officer Jim Martin. Eley also assisted.

In a third incident, Shawn Henderson, 30, of 406 Sycamore St. in Bay St. Louis, was arrested for transfer of a controlled substance (crack cocaine) and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Eley said.

Eley said Henderson's arrest was the result of a followup investigation from a recent bust when a 13-year-old juvenile was arrested for allegedly selling crack cocaine to undercover officers. Henderson is being held in the county jail on $2,500 bond.

Karl is in charge of the investigation, according to Eley. No court dates have been set in any of the cases, Eley said.

Jubilee

from their former casino chief, however, Freedman said: "Oh, yes."

Baxter lost his job with Jubilee as a result of an October incident in which he and other employees partied on board the casino while it was closed in inclement weather. The casino paid a $25,000 fine as a result of that incident, and accepted Baxter's resignation.

Baxter, meanwhile, was fined $25,000 by the state Gaming Commission and lost his license to work within the Mississippi gaming industry. He relocated to Costa Rica.

That Gaming Commission case against Baxter still pends.

But a much bigger case emerged several weeks ago -- Baxter returned to Mississippi to face federal money laundering charges. He waived formal indictment proceedings, and pleaded not guilty to a bill of information filed by prosecutors in New Orleans.

Posting $50,000 secured bond, Baxter was released until his June 26th trial date. He was given the court's permission to travel freely in Mississippi and Louisiana -- and Costa Rica, where he had moved to work in the casino industry.

Federal officials charge that from January 1993 through November 1994, Baxter took some $200,000 from an undercover agent who said the money came from cocaine sales. Baxter allegedly took the money in four installments of $50,000 each, and put the funds in a Jubilee casino account "which was electronically manipulated to simulate gaming activity."

Officials charged that after Baxter received the first three $50,000 installments, he returned the money in the form of checks drawn on the casino's operating account at the People's Bank in Biloxi.

At least some of the alleged misconduct took place in the jurisdiction of the federal Eastern District of Louisiana, according to the bill of information.

Dan McDaniel, a Jackson attorney who represents Jubilee, declined comment Thursday on the investigation. Freedman said McDaniel conducted the internal investigation for Alpha Hospitality Corp., the parent company of Bayou Cadet Jubilee Casino.

Freedman said the news of the federal case against Baxter caught Jubilee and Alpha Hospitality officials "totally" by surprise. He said as soon as corporation officials learned of the charges against Baxter, they informed the State Gaming Commission.

Freedman noted that the U.S. attorney's office has stated that neither the company or any other employees are being investigated in connection with the matter.

Freedman also said that although the casino and parent company stand ready to cooperate with any investigative or regulatory agency in the matter, they have received no requests for information or assistance from officials, other than routine reviews by the state Gaming Commission.

He also said the corporation had not been asked to assist Baxter in his case in any way. "We haven't been asked to and we have no plans to," said Freedman.

Meanwhile, Baxter's personal attorney, Donald Rafferty, is declining comment on the case, other than noting that Baxter has pleaded not guilty to the charges.

While Baxter was on the Coast earlier this month, he agreed to talk with the Sea Coast Echo. He did not, however, make himself available for an interview.

Baxter reportedly has headed back to Costa Rica, pending his trial.

Records in Hancock County Chancery Court show Baxter signed an assumption deed on his Diamondhead home in November, transferring ownership to a Pascagoula resident. The deed was recorded in May.

assistance."

Mississippi Governor Kirk Fordice had requested the disaster status for the affected areas as early as Tuesday of this week.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors made a request Tuesday for the county to be declared a disaster area.

This week United States Congressman Gene Taylor and United States Senator Thad Cochran, along with Lott, had requested President Clinton to declare the three counties disaster areas.

Gov. Fordice visited the area on Thursday, as did James Lee Witt, head of the Federal Emergency Management Team and other FEMA members were along the coast on Thursday.

Several disaster teams were already on the coast for a mock hurricane drill which was canceled Wednesday morning because of the real damages inflicted on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and South Louisiana.

Meeting with Governor Fordice and also a FEMA team, which included U.S. Corps of Engineers, Mississippi Emergency Management Agency personnel, American Red Cross, Health & Medical Service, Environmental Protection Agency, Federal Evaluators, and other agencies, were all of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, State Representative Harry Frierson, Waveland Mayor John Mason, Bay Council President Charles Scianna and other elected officials at the Stennis International Airport.

Thursday afternoon Sam Cuevas, Hancock County Road Superintendent in his report to the visitors, said seven bridges were distressed, eight roads cut, and six miles of blacktop and two bridges remained under water.

A concern by Supervisors was the amount of debris which ended up on the sand beach following the record rainfall.

The recently restored sand beach was reported to have suffered severe damages too.

Concern was expressed over the water and sewer system in Jourdan River Shores as the systems were still under water.

The systems of McLeod Water Park were in question as the entire park went under water.

Hancock County Sheriff's deputies patrolled the flooded areas to try and deter looters. They arrested one man in the Jourdan River Shores subdivision.

Gov. Fordice said, "I know what these people whose homes have flooded are going through since I have had the problem."

The governor indicated the state was going to do everything possible to help those suffering damages.

KCs to participate in Tootsie Roll drive

The annual Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll benefit for the mentally retarded will be conducted in Hancock County May 15-30 said Tom Mitchell, grand knight.

The Pere le Duc Council 1522 of Bay St. Louis will conduct the Tootsie Roll can shake throughout the area.

Mitchell said, "All the monies raised with the tootsie roll drive will return to the Hancock County area. It is matched four times by the time it returns, because the money raised is matched by the Knights of Columbus and then by the federal government."

The Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus have participated in the Tootsie Roll drive since its start in 1971.

Traffic committee eyes Blue Meadow, Casino Magic Drive

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Area officials have formed a committee to explore the fastest, best way to relieve traffic woes — an anticipated build-up of congestion — on Blue Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The committee is a spin off of several recent meetings among city, county and state officials on the topic. They have been joined by Casino Magic officials, who are anxious to get a direct access to Highway 90.

"We get a lot of calls on traffic, with people wanting to know when we are going to do something," said State Sen. William Johnson. The solution, he added, isn't so simple.

Bay St. Louis city officials upgraded part of Blue Meadow Road at city expense last year, creating a three-lane segment from Highway 90 to beyond Bay High School. It is a state road, however, and there are various pools of money available for more work through the state.

Whether the right thing to do is to upgrade Blue Meadow further, funnel Casino Magic's traffic to Highway 90 on a new route, or divert traffic to the school by alternate routes remains in question, Johnson said.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors recently passed a resolution asking state transportation officials to include Casino Magic Drive's proposed extension to Highway 90 in projects funded through the state's casino-access project pool.

The resolution also asks the same for an upgrade of Beach Boulevard, from Lakeshore Road to Bayou Caddy Jubilee Casino.

Johnson said local legislators asked for that resolution, in light of the wording of the new casino-access funding measure. It spells out certain projects to be considered by the state, but does not restrict the state to those projects only.

Area officials figure that including the two projects by name, however, will bolster chances of the state tackling the projects.

While state aid is possible for the Casino Magic Drive extension, the county has committed its share of that funding until next January. Since a majority of the Board of Supervisors is not seeking re-election, the newly-constituted board will have say over what gets added in January.

Johnson said that situation puts state aid "on the back burner" as a funding possibility for the immediate future. More likely is use of casino-access state funding, he said.

The topic was discussed at a meeting of the board, state transportation officials, Casino Magic representatives and area legislators last month.

Casino Magic then hosted a dinner meeting for City Council to discuss the same topic. Later, another meeting was held at the county Courthouse.

But Johnson said the meetings should not be construed as the first steps toward condemnation of right-of-way through property owned by the Stechmann family. Negotiations between Casino Magic and the Stechmanns for a route through their undeveloped land have not produced an agreement.

Johnson said that issue remains squarely between Casino Magic and the Stechmanns, who were represented at the most recent meeting.

The only public concern about that situation at this point, he said, is the apparent drainage problem that the Stechmanns want to have city and county officials address.

"There's no way, shape or form that we wanted to get into negotiations between the Stechmanns and Casino Magic," said the senator.

In fact, the best solution to the area's problems may not be extending Casino Magic Drive through the Stechmann's property, he said. Six-laning Blue Meadow Road may be a more feasible approach, he said, along with re-routing access to Bay High School.

Another meeting on the topic has been set for May 15 at the courthouse, he said.

County awards bids for road paving projects

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bush Construction Co. was awarded a bid this week to pave or overlay 16.2 miles of roads in Hancock County.

The firm's price of $680,883 was the lowest of three bids on the project, followed by Huey Stocksdale Jr., $697,273; and Necaise Construction Co., $886,557.

The project, financed by county receipts from gaming, is the second annual effort of the Board of Supervisors to upgrade area roads. The Bush contract, plus engineering fees, puts this year's project at a total cost of $735,354.

Ten paved county roads are subject to overlay under the project, including: Annunciation Church Road, Lagan Street, Jordan Road, Crane Creek Road, V-Bar Road, River Drive, Linden Street, Robin Street, and Greenland/Java.

Another 33 dirt roads are scheduled for paving, including: Poinsetta, Tarpon, Ben Street, Road 298, Road 232, Road 297, Road 220, Old Dosset Road, Lewis Lake Road, Willie Lee Road Road 263, Old Bowie/ Peter Toft, Road 205, Pearson Cemetery Road, Road 293, Road 269.

Metzler explains 'Motor Voter' Act

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Hancock County Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler on Monday said there was a lot of confusion about the National Voter Registration Act, (NVRA), which was passed by Congress and went into effect Jan. 1, 1995. It is also known as the Motor Voter Registration Act.

Metzler, who also serves as Mississippi's Circuit Clerk Association president, met last week in Jackson with the governor's legal aids and State Attorney General Mike Moore to try to figure out what to do with persons who had registered under the National Voter Registration Act since January 1.

The purpose of the meeting was to come up with a uniform procedure for circuit clerks throughout the state to handle the NVRA applications.

The NVRA allows people to register to vote at the Mississippi Patrol License Bureaus, the Department of Health, Welfare, Office, Rehabilitation Service office or Medicare offices.

Metzler said, "These registrations are good only for federal elections."

"The Mississippi Legislature had a bill in the past session which would have allowed these types of registration to also include all state and local elections. This bill did not get out of committee. So as state law goes, persons must still register by mail or in person at the Circuit Clerk's office or their local city halls," Metzler said.

The state of Mississippi is not the only state that did not comply with the new law, as other states also had some problems with the NVRA.

Metzler's office is in the process of sending state mail-in applications to all persons in Hancock County who have registered under the NVRA. They need to fill out the applications and return it in the self-addressed envelope in order to be able to vote in the upcoming state and local primaries.

Metzler emphasized that the mail-in applications need to be witnessed by a registered Hancock County voter in order to qualify.

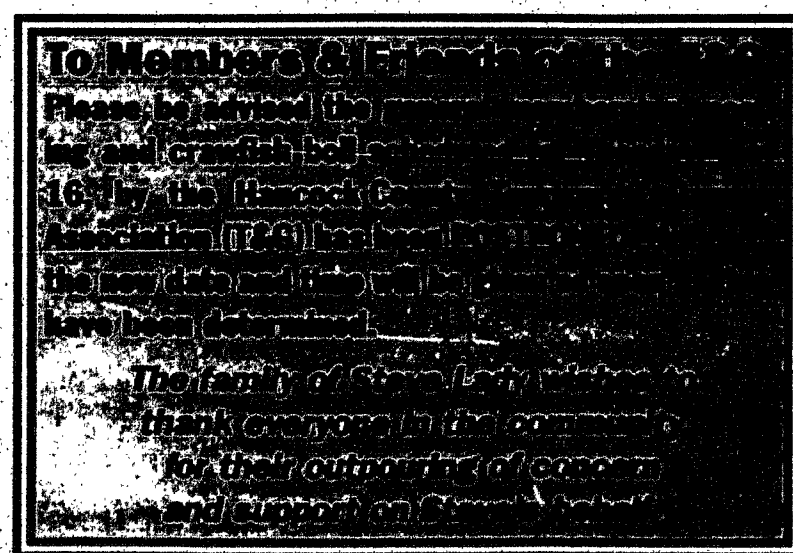

Persons who registered at the circuit clerk's office, or their city hall, have no problems, as they are registered for all state, local and federal elections, Metzler said.

Persons who have registered under the NVRA needing further information may contact the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's office, 467-5265.

Car, train collide at Ballentine St.

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

A vehicle driven by Bay St. Louis resident Bobby Benigno collided with a CSX Freight at the Ballentine Street intersection Saturday at 11:53 a.m., Bay Patrolman Matt Carver said.

The auto was dragged by the train for a short distance. Benigno was found in the passenger seat when police arrived, Carver said.

Benigno was transported by

Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center for treatment.

Police reported they talked to the driver who appeared to have really been shaken up and cut by some glass.

His condition was not available at press time.

Bay Patrolmen responding to the accident included Carver, Sgt. Richard Hannah, Cliff Malley and Richard Fayard Jr.

Bay police is investigating the accident.

Richard reports on Conference on Aging

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Johnnie Richard of Kiln attended the 1995 White House Conference on Aging May 2-5 held in Washington D.C., as a delegate appointed by Gov. Kirk Fordice.

Richard said, "The political atmosphere at the conference was so strong, I felt it took away from the main reason the conference was held."

"This was not just my feeling, but also the feeling of a large number of delegates I spoke to from states across America," Richard added.

Richard continued, "I feel the greatest achievement out this year's conference was a resolution to stabilize Social Security and take it from under the budget ax. I feel Social Security must stand alone to survive."

Richard was also very disappointed in the lack of the agenda containing any reference to veterans, especially since 25% of Americans over age 55 are veterans.

The 1995 White House Conference on Aging was the fourth such conference in history and the last of this century. More than 2,250 delegates from all 50 states and U.S. territories gathered for the conference at the Washington Hilton.

MILITARY MENTION

AIRMAN THORNTON

Airman First Class Charles D. Thornton has been named Airman of the Quarter for the 2nd Logistics Support Squadron at Barksdale Air Force Base, Bossier City, La.

Selection was based on the individual's exemplary duty performance, job knowledge, leadership qualities, significant self-improvement and other accomplishments.

Thornton, a hazardous materials technician, is the son of Sandra Beaudoin and stepson of Jessie Beaudoin of Diamondhead.

His wife, Desiree, is the daughter of Larry and Joan Bennett of Bay St. Louis.

He is a 1986 graduate of Hancock North Central High School.

Hurricane forecast for upcoming season

The Weather Research Center of Houston has released its hurricane forecast for the coming season, giving Mississippi a 50 percent chance of experiencing a hurricane landfall in 1995.

According to the forecast, there will be 10 named tropical storms with six reaching hurricane intensity.

The prediction also contains landfall probabilities. The west coasts of Florida and Texas both have a 70 percent chance of landfall, while Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama share a 50 percent chance.

The Atlantic Hurricane Outlook for 1995 was formally released by the Weather Research Center during the first annual Hurricane and Industry Conference held in Houston.

The conference was designed to bring together industry and government to share ideas on safety issues.

MEMA Casino planner Todd Adams addressed the group on the issue of gaming interests along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

His presentation focused on the state's role in emergency planning. As a part of the licensing process, MEMA provides guidance to all Mississippi casinos in developing and implementing effective safety and evacuation plans to cover all hazards.

Adams also briefed the group on past relocation plans casinos had for dealing with hurricanes and discussed current mooring standards coastal casinos must now adhere to in order to remain in operation.

The Mississippi Gaming Commission has ordered coastal casinos to have new mooring capabilities in place by June 1.

Task of cleanup faces hundreds

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The grim task of clean up faced hundreds of Hancock County residents following Monday and Tuesday night's record rainfall.

American Red Cross damage assessment teams visited the Jourdan River Shores Subdivision Friday as water receded to the banks of the river.

Hancock County, Bay-Waveland Civil Defense director Bobby Boudin indicated the water was some 13.6 feet in the subdivision following Tuesday night's deluge.

Water stranded hundreds of cars and trucks in the county in addition to water damage to an estimated 200 plus homes and several businesses.

Boudin said, "It is very important for everyone to report all their damages to Civil Defense headquarters, 467-9226. This includes all storm related damages to homes and businesses and includes motor vehicles."

Boudin was very concerned about those whose water wells were under water.

"The owners of wells covered in the flood need to take proper samples to the Board of Health to be tested before drinking," Boudin said.

Boudin added, "Until the water is tested, I suggest they use bottled water, or boil their water before drinking as a precaution."

Bertina Burge, local American Red Cross representative, said late Friday a Red Cross service center should be in operation on Monday at the Community Center on Highway 43 next to the county's maintenance center.

The center will have clean up kits and other supplies.

Salvation Army assistance has already arrived in the county too.

The Hancock County Emergency Relief will be collecting food clothing, and other items for storm victims.

Residents wishing to help, may deliver them to the Word of Faith Christian Fellowship Church, 1399 Old Spanish Trail, Waveland, Monday through Friday, May 15-19 and May 22-26, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Flood victims may also pick-up supplies during the same hours and are asked to first telephone to make sure the items they need are on hand. That telephone number is 467-4488.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, along with other officials praised the fact there were no reported injuries.

Rescue operations of those stranded in the flooded homes was conducted by numerous agencies, of which many officers and volunteers worked several shifts in a row.

Among the agencies assisting were, Hancock County Sheriff's deputies, Mississippi State Troopers, Bureau of Marine Resource officers, Wild Life & Fisheries officers, Auxiliary Deputies, Volunteer Firefighters, Dive & Rescue volunteers and many volunteers with boats.

Peterson attributed the work of the dedicated officers and volunteers as being the main reason there were no injuries.

Mississippi Department of Transportation, (DOT), Hancock County, City of Bay St. Louis and Waveland crews worked tirelessly during and after the thunder storms trying to keep flooded highways streets closed and drainage ditches open to help remove the record water fall.

Emergency repairs had to be made on Highway 43 on Tuesday and also on Highway 603 Thursday by DOT crews.

Monday night's rains were heaviest in the North Hancock County areas. The Northern area got a double trouble with Tuesday night's rains which hit the Southern area very hard too.

Homes and businesses with water were not only located along the Jourdan river, as there were several in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The number of streets and highways having to be closed during the rainstorms were too numerous to mention.

Boudin indicated there was some 26 1/2 inches of rainfall within a 36 hour period within in the county.

Babe Ruth Drawdown a success

Sponsors of a drawdown benefit for the local Babe Ruth Little League said their event grossed some $8,000 to help support 13- to 15-year-old's baseball.

With more than 320 tickets sold, the event took place at the American Legion on Green Meadow Road --the facility was donated free of charge for the fundraiser.

"The board members and players want to say a sincere thank you to the American Legion for use of the hall," said Ronald J. Vanney, one of the backers of the event.

Proceeds from the drawdown goes to buy uniforms and equipment for the more than 70 youths involved in the program, and to pay for other League expenses.

Vanney said the board hopes to sponsor other fund-raisers this year, hopefully enabling the program to include programs for 16- and 17-year olds.

Airport

also double up on maintenance duties, including lawn care.

A new lighting system is in the plans as well as equipment that will allow precision-type approaches for aircraft. Thanks to the charter operations of Casino Magic last year, over 60,000 people passed through Stennis' turnstiles, leaving in its wake an economic impact of several million dollars.

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino is also beginning charter operations.

"We are fast becoming a major player in transportation," Stovall said with pride.

He was particularly pleased with the outcome of the FAA inspection. FAA officials evaluated all areas of the airport, including safety, operations, air traffic procedures, crash and rescue and training. A crash and rescue was also staged.

In all areas, the facility earned a rating of "Excellent" from FAA officials, according to Stovall.

"We have come a long way in the past few months," he said.

"But we have a long way to go." Stovall is pressing forward to have their airport fully certified, a process which he said could take up to a year. Once accomplished, the airport director is downright giddy about Stennis' untapped potential.

"(A full accreditation) would move us into a different level of government funds," Stovall said. "It would also help us acquire more commercial services."

He said he wanted to negotiate with Stennis Space Center to open up some adjoining land currently in the buffer zone that cargo carriers would be able to utilize. He wants to educate cargo and freight companies currently located at New Orleans International that because of traffic tieups from Kenner to downtown New Orleans and point beyond, that relocating to Stennis would add no more than a few minutes to delivery time.

Also, Stovall said he wants Stennis to be "known as a reliever for both Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport and New Orleans International Airport."

Stovall said Stennis' 8,500-foot runway is the state's second largest and can handle planes of any size.

"When flights can't land at either facility because of weather (as happened this past week), we want (pilots and airport personnel) to know they can land here," Stovall said.

Before that can happen, however, Stovall said two glaring shortages must be addressed. The first is a lack of an adequate lighting system, which he said will be corrected in the near future.

Also to be addressed in the installation of precision-type approach instrumentation. Currently, Stovall said the lowest aircraft can approach on instrument landings is 600 feet.

However, with the advanced equipment, aircraft can approach as low as 200 feet. Stovall is also hoping a modernized terminal can be built to replace the tiny structure currently used.

He admitted the influx of charters during the past year "caught us off guard."

"But we want to be ready for five years from now, using today's funds," Stovall said. "We want to be ready for commercial traffic, including regional airlines."

"We want to let the taxpayers know their money is not going to a black hole. We are using it for the structure and equipment to upgrade Stennis."

Once the pieces are in place, Stovall is hoping for a financial awakening for the once-sleepy airport.

County digs out from heavy rains

Highway 603 washout

The Jourdan River Shores subdivision continued to be plagued by high water even after the rains subsided.

Part of the highway was washed out (above), and as a consequence, some homes had water in them. (Echo staff photo by Ellis C. Cuevas)

Cleaning up

Several businesses around the area, including those in the Colonial Plaza Shopping Center, spent Thursday pulling up wet carpet and drying out the store. (Echo staff photo by Ellis C. Cuevas)

Beaches bear brunt of damage

A deep cut

The beaches suffered some of the most severe damage from the heavy rains and flood waters. Erosion was high as the waters washed out several large chunks of beachfront.

Looking up?

The swatches cut by the rising water were so deep that in some places an individual could stand at the bottom and not see over the top. (Echo staff photo by Richard Meek)

Cedar Point

Logs and other debris washed on shore at Cedar Point (above) and at other points in Bay St. Louis and Waveland. (Echo staff photo by Ellis C. Cuevas)

Down the drain

The heavy rains eroded some parts of the beach all the way down the drain. (Echo staff photo by Richard Meek)

Kiwanis breakfast features Saints players and coaches

New Orleans Saints offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach Carl Smith will be the featured speaker at a 7 a.m. breakfast sponsored by the Hancock County Kiwanis Club at the Waveland Resort Inn Thursday, May 18.

Smith will be joined by Saints vice president of marketing Greg Suit, new linebackers coach Jim Haslett, tight end Irv Smith and nose tackle Jim Hanna.

According to Jaguar Athletic Club luncheon coordinator J. B. Coincon, the reception will consist of the showing of the 1994 highlight film, remarks by Smith and the other Saints personnel, a question-and-answer period, drawing for prizes and a brief autograph session at the end of the program.

Since 1986 the Saints, under offensive coordinator Carl Smith, have been successful moving the ball, scoring points and the perennially among the NFL leaders in time of possession, having led the league three times during his tenure. In 1994, the Saints averaged 5.4 yards per play, fifth-best in the NFL.

They also ranked eighth in the league with 323.9 net passing yards per game, and ninth with 348 total points. New Orleans established club single-season records for first downs (203), net passing yards (3,846), pass attempts (569), pass completions (366) and completion percentage (64.3). Smith, the NFL's longest tenured offensive coordinator with the same team, joined the Saints staff in 1986 from the Philadelphia/Baltimore Stars.

Saints' vice president of marketing, Greg Suit, joined the club in 1977. He was promoted to his present position last year after serving as director of marketing since 1987. In his role, Suit supervises the club's promotional activities, box suite sales and management, advertising and corporate sponsorship programs.

He is also responsible for ticket office operations and the team's involvement with its local broadcasting partners, including the Saints' radio network. Suit has also served the team as director of publicity and director of public relations and was on the NFL staff for six Super Bowl games and the 1984 AFC-NFC Pro Bowl.

Linebackers coach Jim Haslett begins his tenure with the Saints following successful stints as both a coach and player. For the past two seasons, he served as linebackers coach with the Los Angeles Raiders.

A three-time All-America as a defensive end at Indiana University (Pa.), Haslett was the second-round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in 1979. His playing career spanned nine seasons, eight with the Bills. He appeared in the Pro Bowl in 1980 and 1981, and concluded his NFL career in 1987 with the New York Jets.

Notre Dame tight end Irv Smith was New Orleans' second selection of the first round (20th overall) in the 1993 draft, a choice obtained from Phoenix through San Francisco in an exchange of first-round picks. He was the first tight end taken in the draft.

Smith is a big player with good hands and blocking ability. In 1994, he took over the starting spot with the retirement of Hoby Brenner, and was fifth on the team and first among tight ends with 41 receptions for 330 yards and three touchdowns.

Nose tackle Jim Hanna was one of five rookie free agents to make the Saints' 1994 opening day roster. Hanna has good strength and speed and can play inside or outside in 4-3 scheme. He played in seven games last season, primarily on special teams and was credited with one tackle on defense.

The event is open to the public. Tickets are $7 each. Contact Bernard at Hancock Medical Center, 467-8719, or Glenda at Waveland Resort Inn, 467-9261.

SSC tennis doubles place 2nd in state

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus tennis team sent the boys doubles team and their singles player to the state championships last week in Jackson. SSC freshman J.J. Bailey made it to the semi-finals before falling and the doubles team of Philip Marino, a seventh grader, and Scott Wallace, an eighth grader, placed second in the state.

Bailey fell to Patrick Rayner of Laurel in the semis. He defeated Northwest Rankin 6-3, 6-2 and Starkville 6-2, 7-6 (7-4) to reach the semi-finals.

Marino/Wallace were defeated by Tom Julian/Scott Graves of McComb for the title 7-6, 6-1.

SSC reached the title match by defeating Magee 6-2, 6-1; Laurel 6-3, 6-2; and Corinth 6-2, 6-4.

OLA finishes 2nd; qualify in eight events

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Our Lady Academy Crescent track team continued its cinderella season with a strong second place showing at the South State Championships in Gulfport on May 6.

OLA was poised to win the meet going into the final event tied with Hinds County for first place. OLA finished the race in fifth while Hinds County finished third. OLA tallied 72 points to Hinds County's 76 points. It was the highest finish for the Crescents ever in the South State meet.

To open the day, the Crescents got a fourth and fifth place finish in the long jump from Nina Crain and Leslie Esher. Crain placed fourth with a jump of 14'11 3/4" and qualified for the state meet in Jackson. Esher jumped 14'8 1/4" to place fifth.

Nina Crain finished second in the 300m intermediate hurdles with a time of 52.92s and qualified for the state meet.

Missy McPhail won the 3200m run for the Crescents in a time of 13:08.63s as she qualified for the state meet. McPhail also won the 1600m run in a time of 5:51.53s.

Senior Amy Jones qualified for the state meet in the 100m hurdles by placing third with a time of 17.78s. Jones also qualified in the 300m intermediate hurdles by placing third with a time of 53.78s.

The OLA 800m relay team qualified in dramatic finish with a fourth place and a time of 1:53.4s. The team consists of Andie Fillingame, Leslie Esher, Sharon Bradley, Kristen Cannon, and alternates Amy Jones and Caroline Weems. Esher made up two places on the final leg to help the team finish fourth.

Leslie Esher won the 400m dash and qualified for state with a time of 1:03.5s.

Missy McPhail qualified in a third event for the state meet in the 800m run with a third place finish and a time of 2:39.8s.

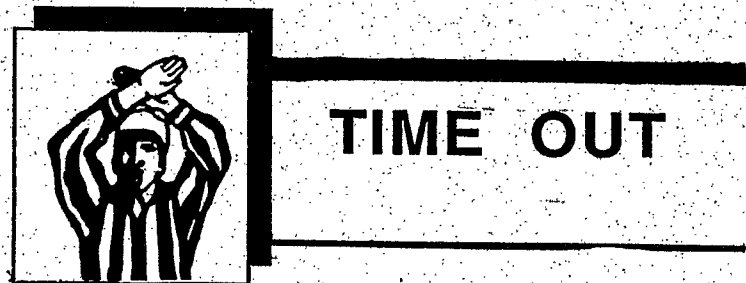

The mile relay team of Leslie Esher, Caroline Weems, Jenny Madden, Amie Geary, and alternates Andie Fillingame and Missy McPhail finished fifth and narrowly missed qualifying for the state meet. They recorded a time of 4:35.0s.

All in all, the Crescents qualified in eight of the sixteen events with 10 participants in those events.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Southern Women's Club

The Southern Women's Club met May 11 at the Center for Women's Health in Long Beach. The club received the following awards at the state convention: First place, scrapbook, media book and year book international affairs; United Nations and Cultural Exchange; third place in education, adult literacy, conservation and energy awareness. The club was recognized for membership, submitting club history and kind news to a local kindergarten class. Libby Murr received first place in cross stitch, and Susan Lenex and Gays Winter received first place in photography. The monthly donation will go to Morning Star Pregnancy Center. The next meeting will be Thursday, June 8 at the Center for Women's Health in Long Beach.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

Members of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 and of the VFW Auxiliary 3253 gathered to pay farewell to member Oris Planchard April 28. President Janell Necaise of Unit 139 read the prayers, followed by chaplain Carolyn Bermond and prayers by Necaise as members placed carnations at the side of the body. President Billie Tudury of the VFW Unit read prayers, followed by chaplain Janell Necaise and Roslyn Weathers, former chaplain of Unit 139. The family thanked the members of each group for their participation in the services.

April 28, at the Post home, Unit 139 was invited to a seminar on the American Legion Auxiliary by former state president Lou Wilkerson. She explained the many functions the auxiliary plays in and around the local areas as well as throughout the country. Many people have benefitted from the auxiliary's help, and is a pleasure to be a member of this great organization. Another seminar by Mrs. Wilkerson is planned for the near future.

AARP

The monthly meeting of the Hancock AARP Chapter 1114 will be Monday, May 15 at 10 a.m. at the American Legion Post 77 on Coleman Avenue in Waveland. Guest speaker will be Peggy Bishop, head of Volunteer Services for the six coastal counties of Mississippi. Her speech will touch on home care, home repairs and phone calls to shut-ins. There will be a question-and-answer session.

Theodore S. Price VFW Auxiliary 3253

The auxiliary held its Loyalty Day Program and World War II 50th Anniversary Commemorative Program April 29 at the Post Home.

The opening prayer was presented by Father Bill Kelley of St. Augustine Retreat House.

Commander John Wilkerson and President Billie Tudury welcomed guests.

Lucille Boudreaux, chairman, accepted the Loyalty Day proclamation from Bay St. Louis City Council President Charles Scianna for Mayor Favre.

Wilkerson gave the Loyalty Day address. Boudreaux gave the Flag Day address, at which time she read a citation from Congressman Gene Taylor and presented Wilkerson with a flag that had been flown over the Capitol.

A citation was also read from President Bill Clinton. Letters were also read from Secretary of Defense William Perry and from Congressman Sonny Montgomery, thanking the post and auxiliary for all the invitations, but were not able to attend, but thanked the veterans for their undaunted courage and the suffering and sacrifices they went through to keep this nation free and great.

During the program POWs were honored and a POW and MIA address was given by Louis Guiliardi.

POWs honored were Ralph Hogan, J. C. Baxter, Sidney Snow, Frank Trapani, Sidney Heeken, Albert Katoul, Floyd Delahorne, Glen Wilson and James Petty, who is commander of the ex-POW Magnolia Chapter.

Other persons honored were Earl Cox, Don Wason, Frank Miller, Phil Johnson, Steve Garber, Gary Manieri, George Bradley and Robert Boudin.

Evelyn Perry, president of World War I 2537 Auxiliary gave the World War I address.

World War I honorees were Evelyn Perre, Don Waddell, Pauline Charming and Tuleter Oliver. Gold Star Mothers were also honored. Awards were presented by Boudreaux, Wilkerson and Tudury.

The World War II 50th Commemorative Program was also held, and SFC Louis R. James from the Department of Defense gave the address.

Mayor John Mason of Waveland and Council President of Bay St. Louis Charles Scianna presented SFC Louis R. James the proclamations for World War II 50th Commemorative Celebration to Commander John Wilkerson.

After the address SFC James presented WW II citations from William Perry, Secretary of Defense and WW II 50th Anniversary flags to John Wilkerson for the Post and one to Tudury for the Auxiliary.

The closing prayer was said by Father Kelley. All persons attending received 50th anniversary buttons and book markers.

The World War II commemorative committee consisted of Billie Tudury, Inez Bouis, Joyce Bermond, Judy Gavney, Janell Necaise, Lucille Wilkerson, John Wilkerson, Richard Brehm, Richard Johnson, Eugene Schlegel, Leroy Necaise and Lucille Boudreaux.

Boudreaux wishes to thank Joyce Bermond for helping decorate the hall; Karen Boudreaux, certificates; John Wilkerson, Kmart, Wal-Mart, Delchamps and Jolly Rogers Printing; Channel 13 for coverage and The Sea Coast Echo; Mayor John Mason and Councilman Charles Scianna, the Rev. Kelley and auxiliary president Tudury; auxiliary members and past members and SFC Louis R. James for making the day a success.

Boots 'n' Bows Dance Club

Boots 'n' Bows Country/Western Dance Club Inc. will conduct a benefit fund-raiser country/western dance for Courtney Davis Friday, May 19, 8 p.m.-midnight at the Communications Workers of America Hall, 442 Third Ave., d'Iberville (near the old d'Iberville library). There is a $3 donation per person at the door, or contributions may be made directly to the Courtney Davis Fund, Merchants and Marine Bank.

Courtney is an extremely handicapped 6-year-old whose widowed mother, Lori Lee Davis, was killed last month.

Courtney's grandmother is currently providing Courtney with round-the-clock care. To help the family with Courtney's present and future expenses, the club asks for assistance from individuals and businesses who can contribute in any way possible. They can call at 831-4140 during the day and leave name and number on the answering machine. The call will be returned that evening.

USM hosts dance camp

The University of Southern Mississippi will host a summer dance camp July 18-21.
The four-day camp, sponsored by the Memphis-based Universal Dance Association, is open to all high school, junior high and middle school pom-pom squads, drill teams and dance teams.
Participants will receive in-depth instruction in jazz, funk, pom-pom, high kick and novelty routines. Private seminars also will be available for dance teams and their advisers.
All official high school dance teams, pom-pom and song leading squads are eligible to compete against one another. Superior trophy winners will be invited to participate in the National Dance Team Championship in Orlando, Fla., in the spring of 1996.

The camp fee for resident participants is $167, and that covers room, meals and seminars. Commuters pay $95, which includes seminars. Adviser fees are $147 for resident participants and $35 for commuters.
For more information, contact The Universal Dance Association at 1-800-876-1672.

Blueberry Jubilee June 8-10

One of the most charming early summer events in the Magnolia State is the Blueberry Jubilee in Poplarville, which features a storytelling festival that is rapidly gaining national recognition.

The Mississippi Blueberry Jubilee Storytelling Festival is scheduled June 8-10, a day ahead of other Jubilee activities rich in crafts, arts, and blueberry delectables.

This year's headline tellers are Mary Gay Ducey of California, The Storyweavers of Tennessee, Jim Ritchie of Shocco, Miss. and Cajun teller Mary LeCompte and her troupe of young tellers. They are joined by some of the best tellers the region can offer.

Nestled in the heart of southwestern Mississippi in Pearl River County, Poplarville prides itself as being "the storytelling place." In Poplarville, a small city of less than 3,000, storytellers are said to be popping up thick as swamp grass.

Some of these folks got together in 1986 and formed the Poplarville Storytelling Guild under the leadership of Hattie Burks Gentry. From their beginnings, the guild has mushroomed into the most active storytelling guild in Mississippi.

Your Gift Saves Lives.

Teaching public safety

Officer Thomas Jennings Jr., right, a deputy with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, spoke on the subject of public safety and self-defense to students in Pearl River Community College's self-affirmation class. Jennings' visit was part of a creative project put on by students in the class. Seated are, from left, Josh Richard and Stephanie Kennedy, both of Bay St. Louis. Both are enrolled in PRCC's self-affirmation class, a self-awareness class where students sharpen their skills in areas such as goal setting, decision making and inter-personal communication.

CEHS names Star Student/ Star Teacher

Coast Episcopal High School has announced the selection of Robert Garrett as Star Student for the 1994-95 school year. He has chosen Kristin Townson as Star Teacher.

The Student/Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) program, sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council, encourages and promotes academic excellence among Mississippi's high school seniors and involves more than 300 schools statewide.

Star students are selected on the basis of academic excellence, American College Test scores, and scholastic averages. The Star Teacher is selected by the school's Star Student from among those teachers who have made contributions to the student's academic success.

Robert Garrett is the son of Cmdr. and Mrs. Robert Garrett of Gulfport. A 1995 National Merit Finalist, he is a member of the National Honor Society, the yearbook staff and has been a Student Council representative for two years. He has played varsity basketball, baseball and soccer and last year was named Basketball Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Garrett is an Eagle Scout and a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints of Gulfport, where he is leader of the Young Men at Church.

Garrett will enter the Honors Program at the University of Mississippi where he has been named to the Chancellor's Leadership Class. He plans to major in microbiology, with plans for a career in either medicine or pharmacology.

In selecting Townson, Garrett says, "Not only have I learned a lot, but her class (math) is fun. She brings an enthusiasm into the classroom like no other teacher I have ever known."

Townson graduated magna cum laude from Appalachian State University with a degree in engineering technology. She entered the teaching profession five years ago following seven years in the aerospace industry working in various engineering capacities.

Townson has enjoyed her career change to teaching and especially enjoys teaching high school students.

"I enjoy the camaraderie at Coast Episcopal among students and between teachers and students. As a result, I have developed comfortable relationships with many students here and thoroughly enjoy being with them."

In addition to teaching, Townson has coached girls basketball at CEHS and is a sponsor of the Wilderness Club and the Junior Engineering and Technology Society. In her free time she enjoys hiking, reading, cycling, gardening and playing basketball.

She and her husband Charles live in Diamondhead with their two children, Allison and Ian.

The Mississippi Economic Council honored all of the Star Students and Teachers from across the state at a luncheon in April in Jackson.

Grass is OLA's Chamber rep

Miranda Grass, a senior at Our Lady Academy, serves as a student director with the board of directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Chosen by the faculty last September to represent OLA, Grass has met each month with the Chamber.

"I find this position very interesting," said Grass. "I get to share in the planning of goals, to present a different outlook on the community and to give a teenager's point of view."

Chrissy Martin

Daughter of Lindsay Ingraham of Waveland and Wayne Grass of Metairie, Grass is president of SADD and was instrumental in getting the juniors and seniors to form a 'chain of life' before prom.

Grass is also a co-editor of the literary magazine, From Within, and a member of OLA's Campus Ministry. Currently she serves as chairman of the Student Ministry Team and is co-chairman of the Senior Retreat Team. She was chosen as the senior Pepsi Student of the Month for February.

Grass has participated in litter-free poster contests and beach cleanups, fed the homeless at Christmas and served as a summer camp counselor. She was chairman of OLA's Food Drive last year and received a service award from Campus Ministry for her many hours of volunteer service.

Upon graduation in May, Grass is interested in pursuing criminal justice and plans to attend the University of South Alabama.

Esher elected Key Club lt. governor

Scott Esher has been elected the 1995-96 lieutenant governor of Division 14 Key Club at the 52nd annual Key Club convention for the Louisiana-Mississippi-Tennessee District.

The Key Club is a high school service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International and the Gulfport Kiwanis Club.

As lieutenant governor, Esher will serve as a member of the district board of trustees, assume the responsibility of representing the district and serve as a liaison between the governor, his programs and the individual clubs in Division 14.

Esher is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Esher of Waveland. He is a junior at St. Stanislaus where he is secretary of the Key Club, vice president of the junior class and an honor student enrolled in the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta and Spanish Honor Society.

He is captain of the cross-country team and a member of the track team.

Scott Esher

WEDDINGS

Schultz-Morrow

Pauli Sue Morrow and Mark Anthony Schultz, both of Gulfport, were united in marriage on March 25, 1995, at the First Presbyterian Church of Ocean Springs. The Rev. Andy Wells officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Morrow of Ocean Springs.

Her grandparents are Mrs. Edith Woltz of Ocean Springs and the late Francis Woltz and the late Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morrow, Tower Hill, Ill.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Marjorie Schultz of Bay St. Louis, and the late Truman Schultz Sr. His grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Schultz and the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carver, Bay St. Louis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white bridal taffeta. A silhouette neckline was the accent to the sequin and pearl lace bodice. The long Victorian-type sleeves were topped with handmade taffeta rosebuds that continued around the back. Her lace tiara had a cathedral-length illusion train that was vested with pearls. She also wore a strand of variegated pearls.

The bride's satin and pearl beaded slipper held a sixpence tied with a blue satin ribbon borrowed from her mother. She also wore a blue satin garter with purple lace that was made by her grandmother for her mother's wedding. Her sister also wore the sixpence in her shoe and the blue lace garter when she was married.

Her bouquet was a cascade of Victorian burgundy roses, white roses and burgundy magnolias with illusion puffs of lace surrounded by Victorian lace. It was accented with streamers of emerald green and burgundy satin lace and iridescent pearls.

The maid of honor was Mrs. Vicki Karch, sister of the bride, of Cumming, Ga. Her bridesmaid was Beth Corso of Mobile, Ala.

The best man was Truman Schultz Jr., brother of the groom, of Bay St. Louis. The groomsmen were Michael Slater of Pass Christian.

Flower girl was Kristian Karch of Cumming, Ga., niece of the bride. The ring bearer was Joshua Creech of Lodi, Calif., son of the groom. The satin pillow he carried was made by the bride's grandmother and used by the bride's mother and sister at their weddings.

The program of music was played by Jane Walker. Before the ceremony, Mary Cooley sang "Looking Through the Eyes of Love" and "Wind Beneath My Wings." She sang the "Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The ushers were Truman Schultz III, and Cameron Schwartz, nephews of the groom, of Bay St. Louis.

Joshua Creech, son of the groom, and Justin Schwartz, nephew of the groom, lit the candles.

A special family medallion ceremony was performed preserving and embracing the combination of families into one. Joshua Creech, son of the groom, was presented a medallion of love, support, and unity by the groom and the bride.

As the ceremony ended, the church bell was rung by Teresa Demoran announcing the marriage.

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents at the Ocean Springs Community Center.

Amber Schultz and Shae La Fountaine, nieces of the groom, served the three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was accented with cherubs and magnolias. Victorian sterling silver wedding pulls were laid under the edge of the cake. Each of the bride's attendants pulled their own charm with each charm carrying its own special wish for the future and symbolic meaning.

The couple went to Key West, Fla. on their honeymoon and will reside in Gulfport.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Anthony Schultz

LoGrasso-Benvenuti

Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Benvenuti Sr., of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Beth Benvenuti, to Vito LoGrasso, son of Johnny LoGrasso of Antioch, Calif., and the late Mrs. Mary LoGrasso.

The prospective bride is a graduate of Bay High School and Mississippi University for Women. She is an assistant controller with Mills College in Oakland, Calif.

The groom-to-be is a graduate of Antioch and St. Mary's College in Moraga, Calif. He is a senior account manager with Continental Home Warranty in Walnut Creek, Calif.

The couple will exchange vows on May 20 at St. Mary's Church in Walnut Creek.

Mary Beth Benvenuti and Vito LoGrasso

Spiers-Moran

Mr. and Mrs. Hank Spiers of Carriere announced the engagement of their son, Hank Spiers, to Dana Moran, daughter of Oswald Moran, Jr., and Mary Louise Moran of Picayune.

The prospective bride is a 1988 graduate of Hancock North Central High School and a 1992 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi. She is presently employed by the Pearl River County Department of Human Services.

The prospective groom is a 1983 graduate of Hancock North Central. He is currently employed at DuPont's DeLisle Plant.

The wedding is scheduled for May 20 at Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln. A reception will follow at Dupont's Dera Park. All friends and relatives are invited.

Advertorial

It won't be long before the hot, humid days of summer are upon us. Are you confident that your air conditioning system is in tip-top shape? Ensure your comfort by simply calling the professionals at Mayo's A/C and Heating.

For a nominal charge of only $39.95, you can have your system checked and have peace of mind that your air conditioning system will be ready to provide you with cool, comfortable air. Having your system checked now could also save you big bucks later on. The knowledgeable and friendly staff at Mayo's A/C and Heating will check your air conditioning unit's fresh and electrical wiring, clean the unit, oil the motors and check the unit for overall operating efficiency. If your unit is not operating efficiently, it could be costing you money, unnecessarily.

Of course preventative maintenance is not all that is offered by Mayo's A/C. Mayo's A/C also sells such quality brands such as Trane and Tempstar. For a limited time, Trane equipment is offering a special program which includes a 10 year warranty on parts and labor on the XL 1200 Super High Efficiency unit. No matter what brand of air conditioner you have, Mayo's A/C can service it with quality, dependable service.

Owner, Mike Mayo prides himself on his honesty and integrity and realizes the importance of continued education in his field which is why he attends various seminars. As a valued customer of Mayo's A/C, you can be assured of the best service available.

Mayo started the business in 1990 and moved in December 1994, to 509 Ulman Avenue in Bay St. Louis to better serve his customers. Owners, Mike and Kendra Mayo invite you to visit their new location. They are open Monday through Saturday and financing is available through Mississippi Power and Coast Electric.

Don't sweat out another summer, call the professionals at Mayo's A/C and Heating. For more information, call 467-5975.

EVERY ROSE HAS IT'S THORN:
True love only comes once in a lifetime. One should cherish it, embrace it, protect and defend it. For it is more precious than gold, and more fragile than a butterfly. True love never takes, it only gives. Pride is it's worst enemy, truth and commitment it's best friends. True love gives one the power to dream; and to forgive. If only your soul were an open window, like rays of sunshine all the true love within me would pour through into your heart; and looking in I would see our future together, with the past forgotten. Only you will read this and know for certain it is for you. I love you more, Come to me my princess, my music cries. There's a place, far far away .....

Story hour titles listed

"Who Says Moo?" will be the theme for children's story hour at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis Wednesday, May 17 at 10:30 a.m.

The Cow Who Wouldn't Come Down, Who Says Moo? and No Milk! are books to be featured. Children will make a cow, sing animal songs and see a video. Refreshments will be served.

"Horses" will be theme at the children's story hour at the Waveland Library Thursday, May 18 at 10:30 a.m.

The Horse in Harry's Room, Barney's Horse and Farm Animals are books to be featured. Children will receive a color sheet and refreshments.

The last story hour of the season for the Kiln Library will be Thursday, May 18 at 10:30 a.m. "Get Ready for Summer" will be the theme, and books to be featured include Bobby Bear Goes To The Beach, One Summer Night and Pancakes for Breakfast. Children will cut and paste a storytime sheet and will receive a "summer fun" coloring sheet and refreshments.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one hour.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children 3-5 years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story hour information, contact Winnie Vasques, City-County Public Library, 467-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724; Evelyn Necaise, Waveland Library, 467-9240.

Museum volunteers implement landscape plan

The Walter Anderson Museum of Art began taking on a new shape May 5 as volunteers began implementing a landscape plan that will transform the museum's exterior into an exhibit of its own.

The outdoor exhibit of the lush flora of the Gulf Coast that inspired Anderson is the brainchild of the museum's new president of the board of trustees, Sandra Shellnut of Pass Christian.

Plans for the project were designed by Edward L. Blake, Jr., a well-known landscape architect who is the former director of the Crosby Arboretum in Picayune and recently returned from Harvard Graduate School of Design where she was a visiting design critic.

Pass Christian horticulturist, arborist and landscape designer Wes Jones selected and procured the trees and plants and has volunteered to be an ongoing volunteer consultant for the project.

The landscape along Washington Avenue is public and conducive to group activities. As series of brick terraces, trees and shrubs, typically found in the coastal woodland understory, will be planted beneath the large live oaks to accommodate overflow crowds during social functions.

Spay-neuter assistance

To celebrate "Be Kind to Animals Week" the Humane Society will give away $1,000 in spay-neuter assistance during the month of May.

This is being made possible by special gifts of money from Markel Lumber, Hancock Bank, Merchants Bank and Peoples Bank.

The society asks that everyone who has pets to spay or neuter to stop the overpopulation of unwanted cats and dogs from filling up the Waveland Shelter.

American Cancer Society

Assistance to victims of cancer is available through Hancock and Harrison county chapters of the American Cancer Society.

Necessary items for patients, such as dressings, ostomy and sick-room supplies are available to those in need. Equipment which may be loaned to patients includes wheelchairs and hospital beds.

Assistance is available for transportation to qualifying hospitals.

Several rehabilitation programs are offered, including "Reach To Recovery", in which volunteers who have had mastectomies visit new breast cancer patients (with approval of physician) to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Guest speaker

Mississippi legislators, guest speakers at the April 25 meeting of Buccaneer Chapter 1729 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees are, from right, Senator Bill Johnson, District 46; Representatives J. P. Compretta, District 122, Representative Diane Peranich, District 121, and Representative Harry Frierson, District 93, and Mary Sindors. These state legislators gave an update on recent bills passed and action taken affecting their respective districts. They also answered members' questions on issues affecting federal retirees.

Kiln featured on MET

This week's Mississippi Outdoors show is... well, unconventional. Mississippi Outdoors travels to the community of Kiln, better known as "The Kill" for a unique story about a wild boar round-up that's more akin to shepherding than hunting. This competition pits dog against beast in a showdown of wills.

Rounding out the show is an interesting story about a 63-year-old man's love for sailing that charts the course for a late in life career change.

Mississippi Outdoors can be seen Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. and Saturdays at 5:30 p.m.

Public Notice

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Notice is hereby given that on May 2, 1995, the City of Waveland did at its regular meeting adopt Ordinance #278, providing for drainage policies, permits, fees, abatement, enforcement, fines and definitions for the drainage policies of the City of Waveland.

The Ordinance requires that the natural drainage patterns be maintained as much as practical and that no alterations of the natural drainage shall be done in such a way as to impede natural drainage. Permits for driveway access culverts shall be recommended by the Street Superintendent and approved by the Public Works Director. The Ordinance requires that private property owners be responsible for the structural condition of their driveway culverts, culvert and ditch frontage and other drainage structures pursuant to the private use of the property.

The Ordinance provides specific siting requirements for the driveway culverts, and stipulates a minimum culvert size of 18 inches. Where undersize culverts impede the easy flow of storm drainage the City shall remove the culverts and replace with the correct size culvert with the owner bearing the cost. A permit is required from the City to alter the flow of water and drainage way.

The Ordinance specifies the types of permits which shall be issued by the Mayor or Public Works Director covering a drainage alteration of any kind. The Ordinance further provides that violation of the Ordinance may be subject to a fine of up to $1,000.00 plus the cost of abating any unauthorized drainage way alteration. The full text of this Ordinance is on file at City Hall and copies may be obtained from the City Secretary upon request.

The Arc plans FAS awareness activities

Mother's Day and the week of May 14-20 will be a time when Arc/Mississippi will deliver a special message to mothers-to-be: "Don't drink during your pregnancy."

The Arc is joining a nationwide observance of "Alcohol and Other Drug-Related Birth Defects Awareness Week." The chapter is particularly concerned about fetal alcohol syndrome, targeting FAS awareness in public service advertising and educational resources available to the public.

"We're especially concerned about FAS because it is the leading, 100 percent preventable cause of mental retardation," said Bob Bond, director, Family and Consumer Support.

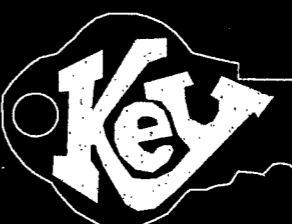

FAS is a pattern of mental, physical and behavioral birth defects caused by alcohol use during pregnancy. It is one set of problems caused by a pregnant woman's use of alcohol, which can also lead to an infant's low birth weight, poor muscle tone, sleep disorders and other defects, according to The Arc.

"The more alcohol a woman drinks, the more likely she is to have a baby with FAS," Bond said. "However, no one knows if there is a 'safe' level, so the best advice is not to drink at all throughout the pregnancy."

The Arc/Mississippi is the Association for the Rights of Citizens with Developmental Disabilities. It is an organization of volunteers, parents, professionals and interested individuals concerned with the well-being of children and adults who have developmental disabilities.

The Arc/Mississippi has more than 40 years history of converting vision into reality for individuals with disabilities and works as an integral part of the strong national organization.

St. Clare Seafood Festival set

The St. Clare Seafood Festival will be held Friday, May 19, 5-11 p.m. and Saturday, May 20, noon-11 p.m., and Sunday, May 21, noon-9 p.m. on the church grounds in Waveland.

For information, call Starr Chapman at 467-3436. The festival kicks off with a fried seafood dinner at 5 p.m. May 19. That evening's entertainment will be The Music Company from Jerry Fisher's Dock of the Bay in Bay St. Louis. They will perform from 7 p.m. to closing.

The Mississippi Delta Shows carnival rides will also open that night along with a variety of other booths (craft, coke and some food booths.)

On May 20 at 8 a.m., registration for a volleyball tournament will begin (competition begins at 10 a.m. and continues through Sunday). For information and pre-registration, call Chris Roth at 466-0025.

All booths will open at noon May 20 and noon on May 21 until closing. These include the carnival rides, food booths, craft booths, Kiddyland, a continuous hayrides, games, the White Elephant booth, etc.

A new addition to the food booths will be Italian spaghetti and meatballs and meatball po-boys. The old standbys will be served as well (hamburgers, hot dogs, shrimp-on-a-stick, shrimp bordelaise, and there will be Chappy's serving many specialties.)

Entertainment on May 20 will begin with M & M (Mike and Kathy Keel) from 2-6 p.m. At 6:15 p.m., St. Clare students will take center stage.

From 7-11 p.m., Mary Vigier and The Instigators will entertain with their repertoire of musical selections.

On May 21 at noon, the Girl Scouts will entertain until 1 p.m. From 1-5 p.m. The Relative Unknowns will perform, and from 5-9 p.m., Pat Murphy will keep the crowds dancing until closing.

The drawing for the raffle (first prize, $1,000; second, $500; and third, $250) will be Sunday at 9 p.m. Tickets are available at $1 each or a book of 11 for $10.

Contact Louie Smolensky for information and/or tickets at 467-9005 or 467-5240.

St. Rose fair is June 30 - July 2

For some time now, St. Rose de Lima Church has been celebrating its fair during the first week of July. The 69th Annual Church Fair this year is scheduled for June 30-July 2.

Fair workers are busy preparing for the fair. Within the next two weeks fair committee members will be asking for donations.

If you haven't been contacted by mail or in person and would like to help with a donation or work, please call the Parish Office at 467-7374, or Bryon Curry, fair chairman, at 467-5317.

Donations may be sent to St. Rose de Lima Church, 301 Nacaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Art of Caring photography contest

The Caring Institute invites amateur and professional photographers to enter the eighth annual Art of Caring photography contest. World-renowned photographer Yousuf Karsh, ABC-TV director of photography, East Coast, Brent Petersen, Pulitzer Prize-winning Washington Post photographer Michael Williamson, and actress Susan Sullivan will head the panel of judges that will select the entries that best portray what it means to care.

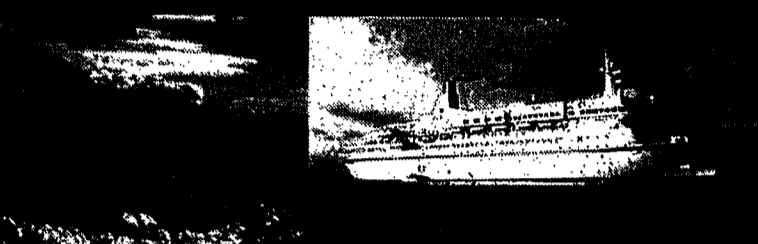

The purpose of the project, sponsored by the Caring Institute and the Eastman Kodak Company, is to encourage Americans to honor, through photography, what it is we do when we serve, help and care about each other.

Winning photographs will be exhibited and will appear in Caring People magazine and in publications of the Caring Institute. Those images judged most imaginative and which best capture the essence of caring will be recognized and rewarded ($200 first place, $150 second place, and $125 third place). Ten honorable mention finalists will also be designated.

There is no entry fee, but each submission must be accompanied by a completed entry form. Photos may be either color or black and white. All photographs must be 8x10". To obtain an entry blank and information on the contest, send a self-addressed, stamped business envelope to: Art of Caring, Caring Institute, 320 A Street, NE, Washington, DC 20002-5940.

All entries must be postmarked by Friday, July 7.
